

STELLENT PURCHASED BY ORACLE

Olympia, WA – (November 7, 2006) ImageSource announces the acquisition of Vendor Partner, Stellent by the Oracle Corporation.

“ImageSource is very excited about this new development for the best-in-class Stellent product suite,” states Terry Sutherland, Chief Executive Officer of ImageSource. “Many of our Customer Partners are realizing the significant value associated with utilizing the Stellent technologies and we expect many future benefits as a result of the Oracle partnership.”

Oracle offers the leading Stellent product line the dedicated resources and broad distribution networks of the largest enterprise software company in the world. Over the last decade ImageSource has grown to be a primary provider of integration services with legacy systems, including those developed by Oracle. Across numerous industries, we have helped businesses leverage and build on current technology investments, such as Oracle’s PeopleSoft and JD Edwards.

“We look forward to advancing our relationship with Oracle and the Stellent technology suite,” says Sutherland. “ImageSource will continue to work on behalf of our Customer Partners to ensure that these technologies meet your critical business needs.”
