

IMAGESOURCE, MICROSOFT GOLD CERTIFIED PARTNER, IS NOW SPECIALIZED IN ENTERPRISE SEARCH

Olympia, WA, November 29, 2007 – ImageSource, a leading provider of content management solutions and professional services, announced today that the company has added the Enterprise Search specialization to their Microsoft Gold Partnership.

In order to earn this specialization the ImageSource Professional Services Team was tested in Microsoft Office and Windows SharePoint Services in configuration and application development. ImageSource also provided references for SharePoint services or Enterprise Search solutions.

“Expanding our knowledge base at Microsoft has allowed us to offer another area of expertise to our Customer Partners,” said Shadrach White, Chief Technology Officer at ImageSource. “Enterprise Search provides a secure search solution that allows organizations to take advantage of a familiar interface to access information efficiently utilizing their existing technology.”

Enterprise Search from Microsoft is an integral part of a broader business productivity infrastructure. Microsoft search solutions help organizations extend technology investments by integrating with other components of the infrastructure, such as collaboration, portal, and content management platforms. This helps organizations save money by consolidating infrastructure and simplifying systems management and support. In addition, Microsoft Enterprise Search solutions offer integration with the desktop productivity software employees use every day, helping to make search results more actionable. Ultimately, this means employees are more productive—quickly and easily finding information and using it to do their jobs more effectively.

Benefits to businesses who implement Enterprise Search include:

- Connect people to information faster and more efficiently
- Harness the power of collective expertise
- Empower employees to help themselves
- Boost customer satisfaction with more efficient customer service

About Enterprise Search

The people in your organization are hard at work making things happen. When they need publicly available information to get the job done, they know how to search on the Internet to find it. But when they need information in your business, they need Enterprise Search. Enterprise Search allows you to deliver the simple, easy-to-use experience your users expect while meeting the security and manageability requirements your IT environment demands.
