

Accelerate your processes and improve the customer experience.

On average, a paper-based form or application is handled 14 times from creation, through processing, to final storage. That's 14 hand-offs with the potential to cause unnecessary delays or status confusion. PDF forms don't truly solve the problem as they are difficult to design and deploy – with most being printed and faxed. ILINX eForms is designed to solve these problems.

Multi-channel without multi-solution

The days of managing different applications based on customer preferences or access points are gone. With ILINX eForms, you deploy once for desktop, Web, and mobile – using the same business logic for a unified, easily-managed process.

No more “one size fits all”

In processes that involve multiple reviewers, not everyone should have full access to the same information. ILINX eforms uses built-in workflows to tailor the form and actions to the role of the reviewer, meaning more efficiency with more security.

Minutes, not months

PDF forms can take hours to design – not including the integrations required to enable electronic operations. ILINX eForms’ simple drag & drop designer tool builds forms with your branding, optimized for all devices. Design and deploy forms in minutes.
